
What is Re-Certification?

The South Dakota Department of Health requires that Foodservice Manager Certification be renewed every 4 years (one year before your ServSafe certificate expiration date). However, there is a one-year grace period to attend a renewal class.

To renew your certificate in South Dakota, you may take one of the approved recertification courses:

- “Serving Food Safely in South Dakota is Good Business” by the SDSU Cooperative Extension Service – 4-hour course
- South Dakota Retailers Association Recertification Course – 4-hours
- ServSafe course, and not take the exam – 8-hours
- ServSafe course and pass the exam. This is the only recertification option that ALSO meets the NRAEF requirements. This course is required by some establishments and would be honored in other states.

ServSafe® is a registered trademark of The Educational Foundation of the National Restaurant Association

Do I Need To Take This Re-certification Course?

South Dakota food service establishments must have a Certified Food Manager on staff. If your certificate has not yet expired, this 4-hour course will qualify for your certificate renewal.

This re-certification course – “Serving Food Safely in South Dakota is Good Business” – meets the four-hour course requirement.

The course addresses the following:

- Food storage, times and temperatures, employee hygiene, and sanitation practices
- Updates on SD food code
- Developing a food safety program for your food service operation

For questions or to register by phone:
605-353-8436 or e-mail:
smith.linda@ces.sdstate.edu

South Dakota State University, South Dakota Counties and U.S. Department of Agriculture Cooperating. South Dakota State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer (Male/Female) and offers all benefits, services, education and employment opportunities without regard for ancestry, age, race, citizenship, color, creed, religion, gender, disability, national origin, sexual preference, or Vietnam Era veteran status.

To assist in meeting the SD Dept. of Health's
Requirements for food manager re-certification

Serving Food Safely In South Dakota Is Good Business

Re-certification Course

1:00 pm – 5:00 pm

Monday,
February 25, 2008
OR
Wednesday
May 28, 2008

Seminar Location:

Beadle County Extension Center
1110 3rd ST SW
Corner of 3rd & Lincoln at the State
Fairgrounds
Huron, SD 57350 1717
605-353-8436

SOUTH DAKOTA STATE UNIVERSITY

ABS - Cooperative Extension Service

Who Should Attend?

Food Service employees or managers whose ServSafe certificates have not yet expired but are within one year of the expiration date.

Please include your current ServSafe certificate number on your registration form as you register for the re-certification course.

Instructor

Linda Smith
Certified ServSafe® Instructor
FCS Extension Educator,
Beadle County Extension Center
Huron, SD

WORKSHOP INFORMATION

Beadle County Extension Center
1110 3rd St SW
Near Gate 8 - State Fairgrounds
Huron, SD

Choose to attend one of the following dates:

February 25, 2008
1:00 pm to 5:00 pm

OR

May 28, 2008
1:00 pm to 5:00 pm

Registration Fee

$25.00

Checks should be written payable to Beadle County Extension

Registration Deadline is one week prior to class date.

PLEASE COMPLETE THE FOLLOWING and RETURN WITH REGISTRATION FEE

Beadle County Extension Center
1110 3rd St. SW
Huron SD 57350 1717

_____ Feb. 25 _____ May 28

Participant Name for certificate :

Current ServSafe Certificate Number:

Food Service or company you work for:

Address:

City/State/Zip:

Phone: _____

E-mail: _____